PROFILE

Since young, I've had a strong fascination and enthusiasm for technology. As a tech-savvy person, I really enjoy dabbling with gadgets. It is fascinating what technology can do for us today. With technology advancing at ground-breaking speeds, it surely does allow me to envision a smart nation a few years down the road and I definitely do want to be part of the effort as we transit into a digital age.

My life has also revolved a lot around sports, mainly triathlon. The life lessons that sports has taught me are countless yet meaningful. Aside from the satisfaction that it brings, I am grateful to the people that I have met along the way, who have been very supportive of my pursuit for sporting excellence.
